

Veterinary press release

August 2009

ORAL FLUID THERAPY FOR CATTLE

The New Agger's Cattle Pump Lite offers more benefits and is economic Forum Animal Health is launching the new Agger's Cattle Pump Lite for oral fluid therapy in cows. The new Agger's Cattle Pump Lite allows one man to deliver 20 litres of fluid into the rumen in just 2 minutes and offers even more benefits: it is robust and lighter to carry, more convenient with its new quick-release connector and more economic: less than half price than the previous version!

The Agger's Cattle Pump is very successful for oral administration of fluids, electrolytes and specific nutrients directly into the rumen. Designed for vets to make oral fluid therapy quick and easy to administer without assistance, many vets have found the Agger's Cattle Pump so useful for routine fluid therapy that they have trained their clients to use it, given them protocols for fluid therapy and supplied them with their own pumps. On-farm training support is available for your clients.

The New Agger's Cattle Pump Lite is available now for many uses to improve the management, productivity and welfare of the dairy cow.

For more information, please contact Forum Animal Health on 01737 781416 or animal.health@forumgroup.co.uk.

